In today's globalization process, the integration of information and communication technologies into the educational process creates new opportunities, but it is natural that it also places great responsibility on the shoulders of teachers. To interest students in literature, they can be interested in it through direct work on the text and travel to the virtual world. Working on the text in the virtual world is very useful for students. This approach not only instills in them a love for literature, but also helps them develop independent thinking and creativity. Interactive tools and technologies in the virtual world create new opportunities for students to better master the text and analyze it. For example, in a virtual environment, the reading process can be made more interesting and effective by analyzing the text, discussing what has been read, and using various visual and audiovisual materials. This is in turn students analysis to do, understand and create skills strengthens.

So in the virtual world text with work, students the most important information remembering to stay and learn daily in life in use help gives. These for and separately preparation demand will be done.

Preparation from the forms one this literary This activity is a journey. type from opportunities nature to the image dedicated or various factories, cities, villages, professions related topics and historical works when studied use to the goal according to. Literary excursions in the text reflection reached events more precisely imagination to reach, to the surrounding area realities to observe help gives. Adults labor activity, historical events perception to reach service does.

From the movie sheet demonstration to do Historical materials, work author his life from learning before such shaped approaches if used, the work deeper perception to be done increases. For example, general education In the 7th grade of schools, Abdulla Qodiriy's "From the Altar" "Scorpion" novel while dying from the movie fragment demonstration if done, from a movie taken personnel students imagination world to expand, concepts content to determine, conscious reading and emotional perception to grow skill formation opportunity expands . Preparation their work this in a way organization to grow of the students education to receive and read was interests to increase will help .

The teacher 's storytelling . This approach importance work author about information in giving is known . The work author about speaking when given their portraits , children for wrote works demonstration If done , students author to his/her creativity relatively interests increases . Author by passed away works or they about other of the creators said audio form of the words putting The teacher also broadcasts to the story in harmony efficiency For example , in the 5th grade, A. Oripov's poem " Uzbekistan " in passing author's himself/herself studied from video footage use possible will be .

Teacher the material students age and level suitable without if you tell a story students artistic to the work relatively internal need exceed goes . The work to winter preparation work , as well as independent affairs also on the road Independent to research in direction to students in advance learnable topics according to of tasks giving is to be put .

Work content with introduction Preparation from the era next in stages work content with introduction works done In this process of the work one whole without perception also the text emotional the impact increase for the purpose him/her expressive winter separately place The work text with introduction one how much methods available . These are of the following consists of :
